Adventure race

This is an adventurous and physical activity where the teams are going to find 16 different places by using a map and some pictures. At each place they will find a checkpoint and at several places they have to do an adventurous mission or competition to get the checkpoint. The team who first finds all checkpoints will win the adventure race.

Except skillnes in each mission or competition, is it important that the teams have an excellent teamwork and are good at choosing in which order they want to take the checkpoints. We promise this is, from the beginning to the end, an activity at high speed!
