

SURVIVE

An interesting and exciting activity where you firstly will be trained in various survival techniques and then compete against each other in how to best create the conditions for your group's survival. There you learn, among other things, how to find water and food, orientate yourself, make a bivouac and how to make a fire. Of course, the day will that also contain many exciting challenges. As we work in groups, there will be great demands on co-operation.
